Wins Scholarship

Robert Bannerman of Dorset Drive will leave February 1971 to spend 3 months at Harvard where he will take part in the Advanced Management Program of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Mr. Bannerman was nominated to take the course by the college on the basis of his senior level and his experience in administration. The course is designed to sharpen and develop interest in business administration. The college selects nominees from labor, industry, government, and foreign countries. This diverse group then studies the various problems of management in an effort to understand more fully the different points of view towards the problems.
